THE DAY OF EXECUTION.

Judge Smith Refuses Westbrook a New Trial and Passes Sentence on the Prisoner.

Friday, March 30, Fixed as the Day of Execution.

In the presence of a large crowd at 11 o'clock this forenoon, Judge Smith delivered his decision, refusing William E. Westbrook a new trial and sentencing him to be hanged on March 30, for the murder of William Gross at Blue Mound on July 2, 1887.

THE ARGUMENT. The circuit court room was crowded Tuesday afternoon for nearly five hours to hear the arguments of counsel on the motion for a new trial in the William E. Westbrook case, the defendant having been found guilty of the murder of William Gross, at Blue Mound July 2, of last year, the penalty fixed by the jury being death by hanging. Every chair in the room was occupied, and people had to stand near the door and at the sides of the room. Several baliffs brought Westbrook into the room, and placed him near the attorneys' table, where his brother, a foul nest, not entitled to credence.

On the main question involved in the motion for a new trial—the alleged error in admitting as evidence the dying statement of Gross—Judge Smith dwelt at length, saying that he could not perceive that there had been an error. He formally denied the motion for a new trial and proceeded to pass sentence in the following language:

THE SENTENCE. William E. Westbrook, stand up. The sentence of the court is that you be taken to the county jail of Macon county and be there securely confined until the 30th day of March next, and that on the said 30th day of March you be hung by the neck until you are dead, and that you pay the costs of this prosecution.

HOW HE LOOKED. Baliffs Dillehaut and Harris took the condemned man over to the county jail and looked him up. He was nervous to the last, but by 59 days to live. On leaving the court room several temperance ladies stepped up to the prisoner and told him to put his trust in God. He replied "I will." He walked over to the jail without faltering, and trotted up the stone steps and went behind the bars with a firm step. The young man will change his manner in a few hours when he realizes that the day of execution is close at hand.

WESTBROOK'S HOPES. The attorneys for the defense say they will apply at once to one of the Supreme Court Judges for a supersedeas to secure a stay of execution until a record of the case can be made for submission to the full bench of Supreme Court Judges. If the supersedeas is granted and the Supreme Court fails to grant a new trial, then the hope for commutation of sentence to imprisonment will be with the Governor of the state.

PERSONAL MENTION. William Pritchett, tax collector for Niantic township, was in Decatur to-day.

Dr. Ira N. Barnes was called to Niantic last evening on professional business.

Will C. Wood has gone to Tuscola to take charge of the Washburn drug store.

N. H. Ridgely, the wealthy banker of Springfield, died last night, aged 88 years.

Dr. W. A. Barnes and Miss Mollie departed to-day for Florida, to be absent several months.

J. H. Lewis left last evening for Lincoln, Neb., where he will probably engage in business.

Charles Manners, one of the contractors who built the St. Louis branch of the Washburn road, died at Taylorville yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Emmett, of Chicago, and Mr. G. A. Bran, of Taylorville, are in the city attending the funeral of the late Elder David Kyle.

G. M. Glasco, of the Tuscola Journal, was in the city last night on his way to Bloomington to attend the state meeting of the Illinois Press Association.

Charles M. Montgomery, who has been here on account of the serious sickness of Mrs. Margaret Montgomery, who is now convalescing, left yesterday for Irving on his way home to Larned, Kansas.

Hon. Wm. J. Mize, secretary of the state democratic central committee, came down from Chicago this morning. He left for Sullivan to collect his debts and look after wire fences. He states that A. J. Bell is the only real democratic candidate in the field for governor.

THE annual meeting of the Illinois Press Association opened at Bloomington last evening to continue three days. About 100 editors are present with many ladies. The sessions of the meeting are held in the First Baptist church. A fine program has been prepared by the citizens of Bloomington for the entertainment of their guests. The opening meeting this evening was in the nature of a memorial service in respect to the late Sterling P. Rounds and other members of the association who have died during the year. The venerable Charles Holt of the Kankakee Gazette delivered the eulogy upon the deceased public printer.

The candidates for state offices and their friends are flocking in. Ex-Speaker Calhoun, mentioned for secretary of state, DeWitt county, is among those present, and Miller, of Stark county, who thinks he would make a good attorney general, is as active as a cricket.

LAST night Herr Andre's Alpine Choir and Tyroler Company gave an exceptionally fine musical entertainment at the opera house, under the management of the Decatur Lecture Course. There was a large and appreciative audience present to applaud musical and vocal members of the company displayed a great variety of peculiar instruments; all of which were handled with great skill.

"Chris and Lena" To-Night. This evening "Pete" Baker, the versatile German actor and vocalist, appears at the opera house in his world-renowned "Chris and Lena."

The piece abounds with fun, and the dancing and singing are superb. "Pete" Baker visits our city each season and the great satisfaction given assures him a good house always. Little Miller, a pleasing little contralto, has made a great hit in every city visited by her sweet singing and capital dancing. Pete Baker has reconstructed "Chris and Lena" and has made it a new and better piece. It is a fine quartette, and with his latest song, "I am Sorry You are Going Away," makes his audience indeed feel the same way when the performance is over.

Funeral of Mrs. White.

The audience room of the Presbyterian church was filled at 11 o'clock this forenoon when the obsequies over the remains of the late Mrs. N. A. White were held. About the richly draped casket were placed a number of beautiful floral offerings, one of which was a massive pillow with the word "Mother" in the center of the design. There was also a tasteful arrangement of growing plants about the pulpit. Rev. W. H. Priestley conducted the impressive services, paying a high tribute to the noble christian character of the deceased. Appropriate music was furnished by the choir. Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Niles, of Champaign, were in attendance. At the close the cortege moved to Greenwood cemetery where the interment took place. Messrs. W. R. Scroggs, A. T. Hill, D. H. Conklin, V. G. Hatch, F. L. Hays and Olof Bull served as pall bearers.

A Decatur Graduate. James A. Winslow, son of J. T. Winslow, of Warrensburg, this county, has just been admitted as one of the new apprentice class at Worcester Polytechnic Institute, located at Worcester, Mass. James graduated from the Decatur High School taking the Adrain college prize for the best scholarship, and now in a class of 50 candidates he was one of the 35 successful applicants for admission to the Polytechnic Institute. James will take a mechanical engineer course, and will be in the institute for three years. He will be required to study French. This is quite an honor for the Decatur schools and we congratulate the young man on his success in passing the difficult examination. The course will cost about $2,000.

Last evening somebody got a straw stack on fire at the rear of Charley Maxwell's residence on Spring avenue. The alarm brought out the fire department. Loss slight.

"Damon and Pythias." Friday evening next the Gage, Thomas & Lloyd dramatic company will appear at the opera house in the beautiful play, "Damon and Pythias," for the benefit of the local lodge of Knights of Pythias. The company has three stars and comes highly recommended by the press. Caroline Gage is pronounced the most beautiful woman on the stage. Kort Thomas funnier than a mustard plaster and Mr. Lloyd, American's best leading man. Another play will be presented Saturday night.

TUSCOLA can lay claim to one of the meanest men in the country in M. E. Brown, who has just been fined $50 and costs for assaulting his wife and stepchildren by Squire Johnson, to whom he is still in debt to the amount of $1 for performing his marriage ceremony.

CAUSE OF DEATH UNKNOWN. The inquest on the body of Taylor F. Evans, found dead in room 30 at the St. Charles hotel yesterday, was held last night at the office of Coroner Peck. The jury were G. W. Fankhouse, Will F. Snyder, T. A. Albert, J. M. Bower, B. W. Chandler and John Rosemyer. Witnesses testified as to the finding of the dead body in the room, the door of which was locked on the inside, but that was all that could be learned of the case, except that the gas was turned on with the hat of the deceased hung over the burner. None of the roomers nor the chambermaid had noticed a smell of gas during Monday or Tuesday, and Mr. Davis didn't notice the presence of gas when he broke open the transom to enter the room. The transom was slightly open at the bottom but pieces of paper had been put in the aperture to keep out the cold. None of the windows were up. Possibly the young man died of suffocation. There was evidence apparent that he had been ill while in the room though he was well when last seen alive at 1 o'clock Sunday night. The jury found that Evans came to his death by some cause unknown, probably by breathing illuminating gas. The deceased had no money. Israel Florey, of Decatur, was at the inquest. He identified the deceased as his cousin.

JOHN M. BIGLER, a young man from Boody, a witness for the defense, mysteriously disappeared before the Westbrook trial, and could not be located. He left the county, and was staying near Colfax in McLean county. He wrote last week to a Decatur friend to send him a Decatur paper giving an account of the murder trial. This fact came to the knowledge of the attorneys for the defense, who sent Marshal Mason to Colfax on Monday. Bigler didn't apply at the postoffice that day for the paper, and Mason came home, leaving the papers in the hands of the Colfax officer. Yesterday Bigler was caught and he was brought to the city to-day. Judge Smith lectured Bigler and sentenced him to imprisonment in the county jail for 30 days. He was deemed an important witness for the defense. It is said that Bigler was the only man who knew exactly how the fight occurred.

THE State Board of Health contemplates making an extensive series of tests the coming season of the water of the various rivers in the state. Commencing April 1, and continuing about six months, a scientific and biological test will be made every week of the waters of the principal rivers, the Chicago, Calumet, Illinois, Desplaines, Vermillion, Kankakee, Rock, Sangamon, etc., with the idea of determining to just what extent these waters are polluted by sewage, distillery slop and other refuse.

THE Woman's Club. Mr. James, of the High School, will talk upon Chaucer, and the Formation of the English Language, at the rooms of the Woman's Club on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Ladies of the club are cordially invited. Per order Pres. Sec. 4.
